A. ELIZABETH ADAMS

From there she went as senior geography teacher to a co-educational high school in Birmingham, then she became senior mistress in charge of the Commercial Department at Melton Mowbray County Technical College in Leicestershire. Homecoming Set for November 1 And 2

Homecoming this fall has been scheduled for November 1 and 2, Dr. Donald W. Bailey, dean of students, announced last week. The Homecoming game against the University of Nevada will be held Saturday afternoon in contrast to previous years when it has been held in the evenings. The decision for an afternoon game was finally passed upon by the Athletic board this year after contemplating it for several years. The reasons given in the past, for not having afternoon games, has been that during the afternoon there is too much competition with regular scheduled Saturday afternoon TV football programs, thus resulting in the possibility of a serious financial shortage. It is hoped that this switch will enable more alumni and their families to attend.

The tentative schedule for Homecaming starts Friday evening, November 1, with the annual bonfire rally followed by the variety show, put on this year by the Alumni Association. The variety show has also been moved up to Friday night, because in the past when scheduled on Saturday afternoon it has not held enough interest, it is hoped that by holding it immediately after the bonfire rally will boost the attendance of what previously has been a very excellent but poorly attended show.

Saturdays events will begin with the Homecoming parade tentatively set for 12:30 p.m., instead of the usual alumni luncheon. The Homecoming committee is in hopes of having last year's Homecoming queen, this year's Miss California, and a contender for next year's Miss America, Lorna Anderson, as the guest of honor.

Saturday's game with the University of Nevada will begin about 2:00 p.m. and this will be followed by alumni dinners for each of the respective classes. The time and place of the dinners will be announced by the class officers.

Lucas Announces Psychology Exam

Dr. James D. Lucas, associate professor of psychology, announced last week that a diagnostic examination for the master of science degree in applied psychology will be given from 2 to 4 p.m. on July 25 and 26.

It is necessary that this examination be taken prior to planning course work for the degree. Interested persons should call the Social Science division office, extension 269 for further information.

The master of science degree in applied psychology and the master of science in applied life science were added to the curriculum by the State Board of Education this spring.

With the addition of these two master programs there are now four master of science programs offered. They are in public administration; business administration; applied life science and applied psychology.

The college also offers 13 degrees for the master of arts degree in nine different fields.

Masters Note

Dr. Emmett C. Thompson, professor of education and coordinator of graduate programs, announced recently that the deadline for the Master's Thesis is July 29. Dr. Thompson, also stated "students who plan to take written examinations under Plan 2 for their masters degree this semester should contact their advisor." This is necessary in order that an exact time and date can be arranged.

Dr. Thompson noted this point because in the past students have been known to wait until the day of the examination before expressing their desire to take the test, and at such a late date it is nearly impossible to prepare and administer such an examination.

Golf Tournament Signups Today

Sign ups for the annual summer session golf tournament begin today in the division of health physical education and recreation office in the gymnasium. John Baker head football coach is in charge of the event which is to be held this Wednesday at the Haggin Oaks golf course. Coach Baker said that there will be prizes awarded to: low gross faculty and students; blind bogey, faculty and students; low gross, women; and low gross for each foursome.

Last year there were 42 students and 26 prizes (the odds are pretty good) overall winner of the tournament wts Akio Iwanaga who tied for low gross with Pete Ross and also won the contest for the longest drive. Other winners last year were Pete Ross, Randy Wilson, Frank Jones, Laura Demos, Bill Hickman, Bill Morr, Margaret Cracchilo, James Neil, Ed Popoff, Norman Cole, and Dave Strong.

All faculty and students are invited to enter. The tournament will consist of 18 holes at Haggin Oaks. Haggin Oaks is located at the corner of Fulton and Highway 40.

Placement Office Still Has Jobs

The Sacramento State College placement office has openings now in full and part-time jobs for both men and women students.

According to Louise Wheeler, placement interviewer, there are jobs now available for male students who are able to type 45 words per minute working on a swing shift, this job requires eight hours a day five days a week and there is a possibility that it will turn into a permanent job. There is also an opening for a woman student in a permanent part-time job, working for an attorney-at-law, in the morning hours, this job requires the use of shorthand or the ability to transcribe from a dictaphone.

Miss Wheeler also noted that quite often during the summer months there are part-time and full-time secretarial jobs available. Anyone interested in obtaining employment should contact the placement office, located in room 230, Administration Building.

dance has not yet been chosen but this event will be held Saturday evening under the auspices of the Blue Key, men's honorary.

Dean Bailey noted that Dr. Guy A. West, president of the college, has requested that both the mayors of Sacramento and North Sacramento, declare November 2 as "Sacramento State College Day," thus hoping to emphasize to the general public that Sacramento State is a growing institution, to be accepted by the community, and that the college would like to have the community participate in its activities. It is also hoped that a proclamation of the State College day will promote some support from the merchants and cause them to publicize this and other activities of the college more than they have done in the past.

Members of the Homecoming committee are Dr. Bailey; Dr. Hubert J. McCormick, chairman of the division of health, physical education and recreation; Bob Warner, president of the 1956-57 sophomore class; Philomenia Scotch, member of Silver Key, and former chairman of the Golds, women's rally committee; John E. South Pacific Opens Tonight Under Big Tent

South Pacific opens a seven night run this evening under the big green and yellow tent of the Music Circus at 15th and H streets. This is a repeat by popular demand from the 1955 season.

This light opera is an adaptation of James Michener's Pulitzer prize-winning book, Tales of the South Pacific, with music by Richard Rodgers, lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II and book by Hammerstein and Joshua Logan.

The action of this weeks' show is laid on a small island in the South Pacific during World War II. The plot presents two love stories, one involving an American Navy nurse, Nellie Forbush and the French planter, Emile de Becque; the other concerns Marine Lieutenant Joe Cable and a lovely native, Liat. Laced with the love interest is much high comedy, furnished mainly by Bloody Mary and Seabee Luther Billis.

Portraying Ensign Forbush will be Patricia Wilson, who starred in last week's show, The Boyfriend. John Shafer, star of many Music Circus shows, will make his first appearance of the 1957 season in the role of Emile de Becque. The role of Bloody Mary will again be filled by comedienne Kathleen Freeman, long a favorite of Music Circus goers. Robert Dixon, a young tenor, will be seen as Lt. Cable.
